Photosynthesis is the process by which green plants turn light into chemical energy. The process takes place in the chloro-plasts of plant cells.

Chlorophyll absorbs mostly red and blue light and reflects green light.

Cellular respiration releases the energy stored in glucose. It takes place in the mitochondria.